General Ideas for Finding Something to Read

- If your child has a favorite book, see if the author has other things written for that age.
- Websites like Amazon will sometimes offer a list of other books people who liked that book have also bought.
- Consider getting your child together with friends from school at the library or the book store. Kids make great recommendations for their friends!
- Ask your friends with kids the same age as yours for recommendations.
- Check out The Neverending TBR blog (www.theneverendingtbr.com) for new books (Mondays) and reviews (Tuesdays for kids, Wednesdays for adults and Thursdays for teens).
